

We review results on the convergence of information quantities in strengthened central limit theorems. Simplified proofs of the monotonicity of information and the rate of convergence are presented. Recent aspects of the work are joint with Mokshay Madiman and Cong Huang, both of Yale University.